

It was wonderful for us consumers when you made the Bells share there facilities with small and regional ISP's (and CLEC's). Now why in the world dont you open up the cable networks to these same ISP's, let them in on the whole ball of wax.

The small ISP's give great support and help in many many ways, and the consumers love them. It would really only be fair!